ADDITIONAL SCHOOL RESOURCES

- Family Resource/Youth Service Center Directors provide a variety of programs and services to parents. They can be a valuable resource for community referrals and services. Many centers also host parent training and educational opportunities, and in some locations, host support groups. Contact your local director for more information.

- The Director of Special Education can address questions or concerns that have not been answered at the school level. They have knowledge and expertise in special education law, general education programs, and special education programs and services.

---

University of Kentucky
Human Development Institute

Contact Us:
Susan Burgan
SPDG- Parent Involvement Coordinator
E-mail: susan.burgan@uky.edu

The funding for this document was made available under U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs Grant No. H325A120007. Shedah Hajghasemali serves as the project officer. The views expressed herein do not necessarily represent the positions or policies of the Department of Education. No official endorsement by the U.S. Department of Education of any product, commodity, service, or enterprise mentioned in this publication is intended or should be inferred. This product is public domain. Authorization to reproduce it in whole or in part is granted.
RESOURCES AVAILABLE AT SCHOOL

- Teachers can answer many questions regarding your child’s day to day activities, and how they are getting along academically, socially and behaviorally. Ask your child’s teacher how to best communicate regularly (ex. email, phone, notebook).

- Related service providers such as speech, occupational or physical therapists can make suggestions for things you can do at home to help maximize the benefit your child is getting from school-based activities.

- School psychologists can be a valuable resource in addressing any social-emotional needs your child may develop. They can provide counseling, assist with behavioral interventions, and provide consultation with teachers to help with your child’s ever changing needs. They can also assist you with referrals to other professionals as needed.

- School Principals can answer programmatic and procedural questions you may have. Principals are responsible for disciplinary action regarding students, therefore they can also address questions regarding rules, behavioral expectations and discipline.